Walk-ins welcome!
I found an article citation – does the Wahlstrom Library have the full-text?

Want to see if we have the full text of something you found outside of the Wahlstrom Library? Here’s what you do:

1. Access the library from the myUB Portal homepage.

2. Click on eJournal Finder.

3. On the next page, search for the title of the journal the article was published in.

4. Click the journal title to see what years we have. If you don’t see the journal title it’s because we either don’t have access, or you misspelled something.

5. If we have the year the article was published in, click on the Click for full text link.

6. From here the process differs depending on what database you’re getting the journal from. In general you narrow down by selecting the appropriate year, or the specific volume and issue the article was published in. The idea is you’re narrowing down to the specific issue the article appeared in, at which point you select the article that you’re looking for.
